We have come to Taylor from a wide variety of environments and have found ourselves caught up somehow and moving toward goals beyond our individual ambitions. By working together we have created a spirit which pervades every aspect of university life. This synthesis is produced by an amalgamation of all that constitutes this university. It is best described as "we."

We are all involved in man's most ageless quest—
the search for knowledge,
for truth and for self realization.
Before us
is a vast body of knowledge presented to us by the readily available resources of our professors and the preserved thoughts of man. In a lively atmosphere of intellectual exchange and development,
we are limited only by time and our own initiative.

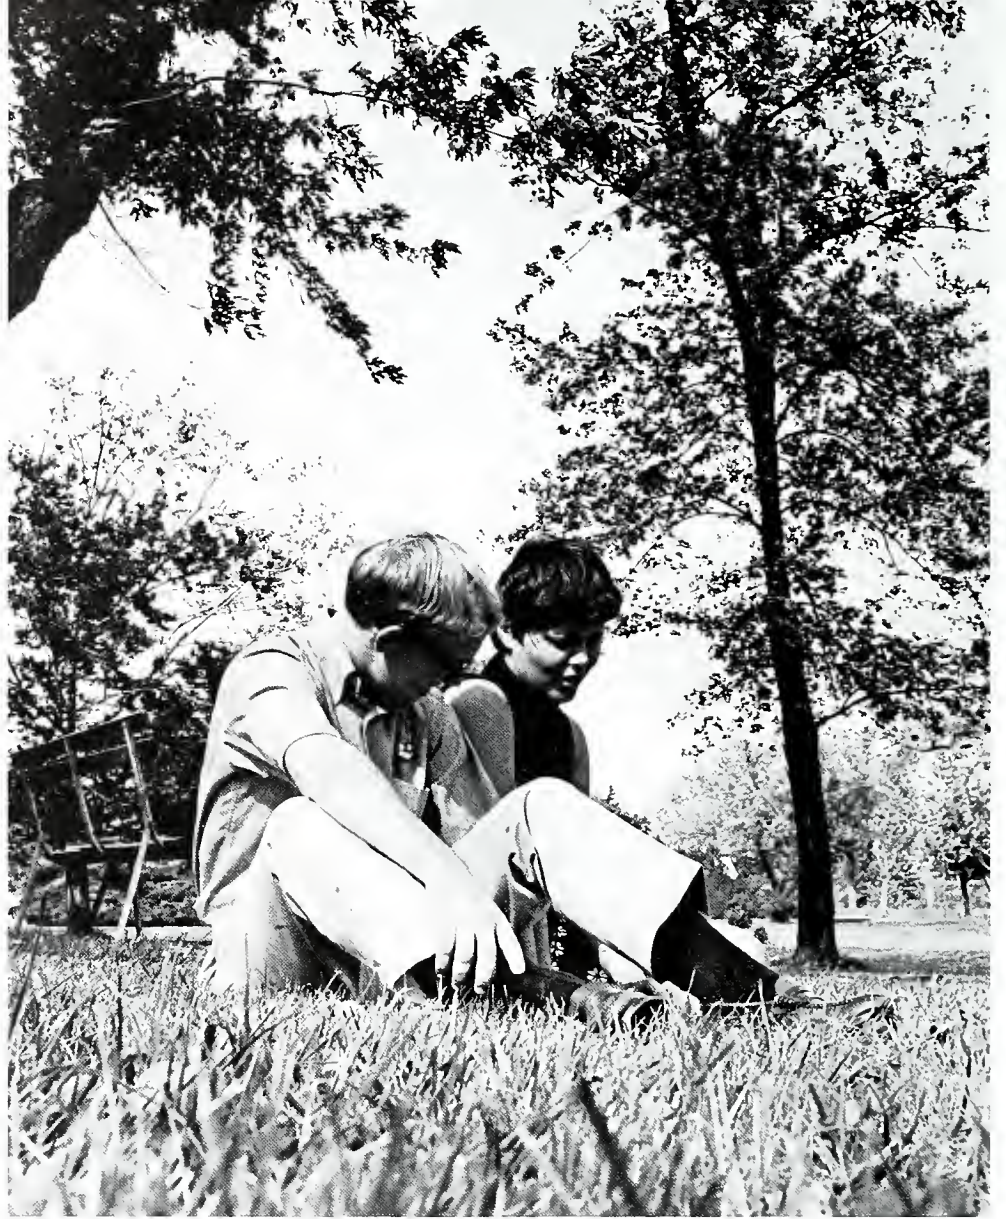

But life is not all intellectual struggle.
Each of us has opportunity to develop our potential individually.
One of the most enriching experiences we have is contact with a broad spectrum of personalities.
We meet spontaneously
in the halls and throughout the campus.

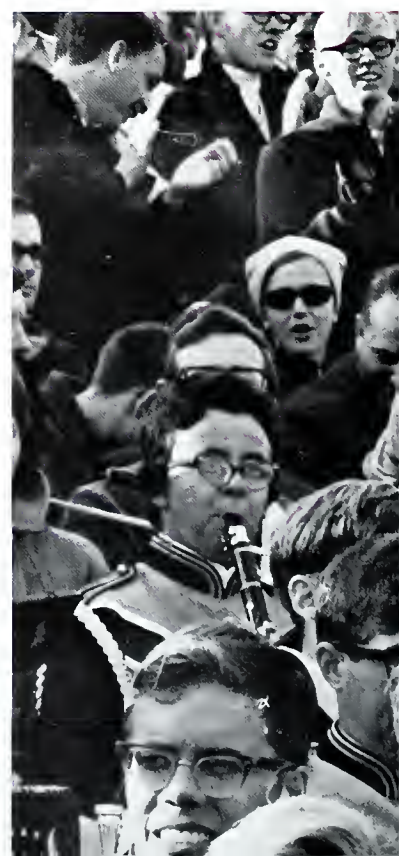

Each contact
 blends into the social unity we find at Taylor.
 We do not perform
 solely for our own benefit.
 Each act affects others;
 they in turn are influential,
 and thus it is we who are responsible for the atmosphere which exists for over 1,300 students.

We train and prepare our bodies to participate wholeheartedly in the demands of an active life. The individual battles himself, his records and his unattainable dream of perfection.

Each athlete, giving his utmost to win, demonstrates the discipline which molds and batters us into the character we will be.

The lone struggles of each athlete are expanded into a desire for successful team effort.
Every member is welded together in the urge to win and every teammate
must contribute his share,
no matter how insignificant.
The important thing is to do our best,
and we on the field
and we in the crowd
are melted together in our empathy and our desires.

The special bond at Taylor is an invisible one, for it is of the spirit.
 Through our faith
 we live the abundant life.
 And more important, we share it.
 The Wandering Wheels
 push their way across America each summer to share the reality of the person of Christ.
 Other students spend themselves as Taylor World Outreach sends concerned students to domestic and foreign fields for summer mission service.
 Still others
 live Jesus Christ at home in the mundane tasks of daily life.

We are a living, dynamic force.
 Prompted by a motivational factor which is far greater than anything within ourselves,
 we increase together in all human dimensions.

The ultimate goal we seek is one of eternal significance.

Taylor University is unique because

Christ makes the difference.

We are one in

Christ

We

realize that a balanced life requires growth in all areas, including the social.
For us have been provided a broad range of opportunities from the traditions of homecoming and the formal banquets
to the casual give and take of Hector's Hut so that we find many avenues of expression in activities

Science building is dedicated

The dedication of the science building is concrete evidence of the growing program at Taylor.

Dr. Nussbaum contributes to the dedication address.

Dr. Elmer W. Engstrom, Chr., Exec. Comm., RCA, addresses students.

The new Science Center consists of the main four-level structure, a lecture room complex, and a solarium-animal room wing. The building houses the departments of physics, chemistry, biology and mathematics. Construction was completed at a total cost of approximately $1,350,000, and dedication ceremonies were held on October 4, 1968. For this event, Dr. Elmer Engstrom, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Radio Corporation of America, was featured as the guest speaker for the morning convocation. The science faculty participated in the ceremonies by placing the following objects in the date stone: a micro-copy of the entire Bible, a radioactive fifty cent piece, a vial of blue phosphor used in color television sets, a punched IBM card, calculator tape, polaroid pictures of the ceremonies and several brochures regarding science programs at Taylor.

The date stone is laid in place.

Homecoming shows spirit

The 20th annual homecoming at Taylor featured the "Parade of the Lovelies" to the coronation of queen Marilyn Hay. The beautiful autumn Saturday was filled with activities, much to the delight of the throng of visitors. "Discover America" was emphasized effectively throughout the events. One highlight was an informal musical session, featuring the Patch of Blue and Wes Rediger's fifth grade class. Climaxing the big day was a premiere of the exciting Wandering Wheels film.

Queen Marilyn Hay views the day's athletic events.

Sophomores place first in float competition.

Karen Yount McDougall, 1967 Taylor Homecoming Queen, returns to crown the 1968 Queen.

Wes Rediger's fifth graders highlight Saturday night's entertainment.

Coronation sets off the weekend activities.

Music and drama stage 'Pinafore'

Sponsored by the Music Club, the staging of the musical comedy H. M. S. Pinafore was an impressive production. Complete with choreography, costumes, and an elaborate set, the play was an ambitious undertaking. The play is a satire on British bureaucracy, formality, and stuffiness.

H. M. S. Pinafore, Taylor's fall musical, was directed by Dr. Edward Hermanson. It was performed Nov. 1 and 2 in Shreiner Auditorium.

Kathy Fitzpatrick plays the role of the captain's daughter.

"The name is SIR Joseph Porter KCB (Steve Corey), First Lord of the Admiralty."

As Josephine and Ralph sing, Sir Joseph's cousin (Ruth Laughlin) saw her share of the glory slowly receding.

Josephine (Kathy Fitzpatrick) and Ralph (Jerry Young) sing of their love.

Karen Hall, as Little Buttercup, is the woman who finally resolved the conflict.

The chorus performs one of its lively numbers.

Standing behind the "Grand Old Party" elephant, Val Peterson, former governor of Nebraska, delivers the keynote address.

Swallow Robin men sleep through the returns during the early morning hours.

Chuck Ridley represents the "Black Power" section of Taylor backing in Nixon's campaign.

Campaign stirs political feeling

The night is still young when students crowd around televisions in MCW lounge watching the returns slowly come in.

Interested students staged a gallant effort to stay up all night—for the sake of politics rather than studies! The occasion, of course, was the 1968 Presidential election, which became a time for all campus Republicans to rally around their television sets. Having been involved in a mock convention last spring, the students were eager to be involved in this historic political event. Through events such as these, Taylor students keep abreast of the times and develop their views, gradually becoming mature adults who can take leadership roles in our society.

Puppet display injects humor into an otherwise serious campaign.

An assortment of election buttons show the variety of candidates.

Registration provided opportunities for parents to become acquainted with Taylor faculty and fellow parents.

Parents Day emphasizes participation

Once during each academic year, Taylor sponsors a weekend designed to give parents an opportunity to see many different facets of life at Taylor. This year, the event was expanded to include the showing of the film, Born Free, a student art show, cross country meet and football contest, an orchestra concert, and a worship service on Sunday morning.

A freshman girl proudly pins the traditional "mum" on her mother.

Future Trojan gazes with wide-eyed wonder at the aftermath of the Parents' Day reception.

World events influence TU activities

Steve Corey admires the NASA space capsule model.

As part of the year's activities, General Chien Ta-Chun of Nationalist China visited Taylor's campus. General Chien holds a position equivalent to that of a U. S. Senator. Coach Odle met General Chien when the Venture for Victory basketball teams toured the Orient. Other highlights were a math display of teaching devices, and the NASA display of a model space craft.

Prof. Ewbank arranges the display of teaching devices made by his math classes.

Impressive visual expression of the theme helped set the tone of Missionary Conference.

An interested student gazes wonderingly at a representation of the mission lands.

Energetic girls hoist a ladder to raise the scenery for the conference.

Rev. Gardiner listens intently to an opinion from a member of the university personnel.

Conferences stress spiritual life

The 1968 conference emphasizing missions presented the theme "Behold the World." Guest speakers, Dr. John T. Seamands and Dr. Paul Freed, delivered inspiring messages on the conference theme. As is the tradition, numerous mission representatives set up displays in Magee Lounge so that interested students might have an opportunity to discover more about the various mission boards. The missionary conference is an event sponsored by IntersVarsity Missions Fellowship. Two missionary projects are undertaken each year through the combined gifts and pledges of students and faculty.

It is also traditional for Taylor University to stage two weeks for spiritual emphasis; this tradition is not a meaningless one. This fall the emphasis was led by Rev. David Burnham, and the spring emphasis by Rev. George Gardiner. Both events were impressive because of the renewed commitments made by many students.

Informal chats in MCW lounge allowed girls to personally meet Rev. Burnham.

Cris Keller (Doug Webb) cries to his mother (Debby Daniel) after hearing the gun shot that resulted in his father's suicide.

'All My Sons' grips students

The dramatic production of the fall semester was the play written by Arthur Miller, All My Sons. Emphasizing the feeling of responsibility which men need to experience toward one another, Miller's story builds to a climax of great power. Set after World War II, the play shows Joe Keller, his son Chris, and the family of Keller's former business partner facing responsibility. When defective plane parts are shipped to the army, Keller is responsible to redesign these parts, but he lets his responsibility fall to his partner who is later sentenced to prison. Ironically, it is the partner's daughter who becomes the object of Chris' affection.

The drama department also staged one faculty reading and these other productions: Oklahoma, One Acts, and Madwoman of Chaillot.

Joe Keller (Bill Midgett) contemplates whether to tell his wife that their son is never coming back.

Chris (Doug Webb) learns the truth of his father's decision to send faulty parts to be used for planes in World War II.

Lydia (Mary Troxell) explains that her children came just "One, two, and three."

Cast—Dean Regier, Mary Troxell, Jack Hinkle, Linda Kukuk, Bill Midgett, Debby Daniel, Doug Webb, Char Woodrow, John D'Alessandro.

Trustee-Student day aids communication

Panel discussions provide opportunity for a merging of ideas from faculty, students and trustees.

In the midst of the fall semester, trustees of Taylor University converged on campus to hold meetings with students and staff. Each year such a day of activities is planned so that the administration and students have an opportunity to communicate directly. New understandings often result from the informal chats between trustees and students, concerning such topics as future buildings and student enrollment.

Suzi Hughes discovers that trustees are interested in student ideas.

Pastor Pascoe greets students at a Sunday evening service.

As a means of broadening their college experience, many Taylor students participate in regular campus events, such as chapel and the Sunday evening services. This gives opportunity for meeting guest speakers and associating with people from all over the world. For many students these experiences will have practical applications in future years as they pursue their chosen professions. The university pastor, Peter Pascoe, encourages all students to take advantage of these opportunities for practical Christian work.

Guest speakers, such as the mayor of Tampa, become acquainted with both faculty and students.

Religious services involve students

Students find Sunday evenings a way of participating in practical Christian service.

The 170-voice Oratorio chorus presented "The Cherubic Hymn" by Howard Hanson and selections from C. F. Handel's The Messiah in a concert during the Christmas season. With organ, harpsichord, and orchestra accompaniment, the chorus sang under the direction of Dr. Edward Hermanson. Several Taylor students participated as soloists in the concert: Renita Sheesley, Kathy Fitzpatrick, Charlotte Purcell, James Danhof, Stan Ray, and William Lang. This annual performance is a highlight of the Christmas season.

The combined oratorio and orchestra enjoy performing Handel's Messiah.

'Messiah' reflects Christmas spirit

The traditional Messiah attracts a large audience during the Christmas season.

An expert on Red China, Lisa Hobbs addresses convocation.

A lecture series was planned this year with special emphasis on Asian affairs. Guest lecturers were Lisa Hobbs speaking about Red China, newsman Kenneth Armstrong speaking about South Vietnam, and Tibetan dignitary Jigme Norbu speaking about Buddhism. SUB also brought Negro author Louis Lomax to campus to address a convocation chapel. Each of these meetings, of course, was another opportunity for Taylor students to broaden their outlooks and to deepen their understanding of the world.

Chatting more informally, Mr. Lomax expresses his views for a radio audience.

Banquet enhances Christmas spirit

"Babes" in Toyland.

The annual Christmas Banquet, held Dec. 13, was one of the outstanding social events of the fall semester. Couples enjoyed the romantic aura created by candlelight, a beautiful Christmas tree, good food, and good entertainment. The dining hall atmosphere was sparked by larger-than-life cutouts and elaborate decorations developed along the theme of "Toyland". The Music Projection, a group of five guys and two girls from Chicago, provided the after-banquet music.

A pretty girl and good food—what else could a guy want?

A giant Christmas tree helped create the Christmas mood.

Spotlights and electrified music added to the enjoyment.

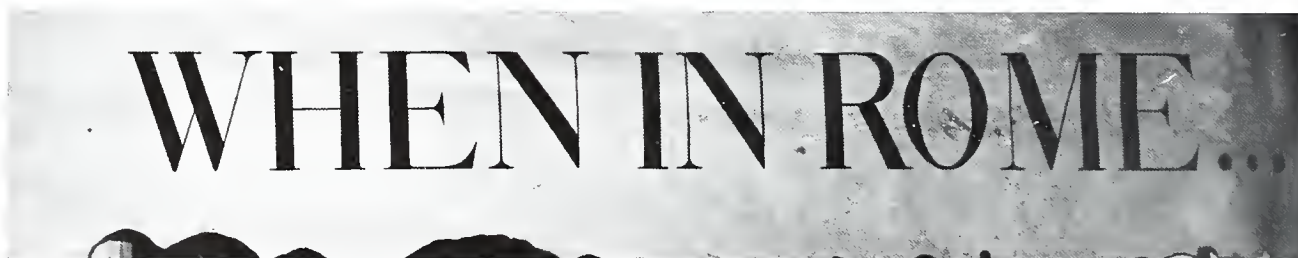

The Music Projection performed among a backdrop of toys.

Banquet builds on Roman theme

The annual Sweetheart Banquet was held, appropriately, on Valentine's Day. The theme "When in Rome" was carried out by decorations of Roman columns, draperies, and waitresses dressed in togas. Junior Liz Koppin was chosen to reign as queen over the festivities. She is a member of the Gamma Delta Beta Society, which sponsored the girl-ask-boy formal banquet. The Rambling Four, a singing group from Bethel College, provided entertainment.

SUB sponsors artist and pop series

St. Joan, by Alpha-Omega Players, was a stirring performance of one of George Bernard Shaw's most famous plays.

Gerald Goodman surprises students with the enjoyability and versatility of harp music.

The 3-D's perform with a popular beat.

The Artist Series included performances by noted harpist Gerald Goodman, the dramatic production of Saint Joan by the Alpha-Omega Players, and baroque music by the Gregg Smith Singers. Elizabeth Schwarzkoff, soprano soloist, and the Indianapolis Symphony were featured during the spring semester.

This year's Pop Series included the 3-D's, who performed "Rhyme, Rhythm, and Reason" on Sept. 7. The Jacques Loussier Trio presented "Play Bach," a contemporary interpretation of the music of Johann Sebastian Bach, on Nov. 6. The New Folk presented a religious pop concert on Feb. 24.

The Jacques Loussier Trio interprets Bach music in their own French jazz style.

PE majors utilize gymnastics room to develop skills.

The Area of Education-Physical Education is concerned chiefly with developing in students the ability to effectively teach others. The goal of the education department is to instill in the prospective teacher not only subject matter but also a valid philosophy of education. The aim of the physical education department is to aid the student in developing and maintaining good physical and mental health.

The education department has made a change in the format of the professional semester. All student teaching will be done in the fall semester of the senior year. This semester will also include most professional courses.

Music renovates course sequence

The Area of Humanities deals basically with the nature of man, his aspirations for mankind, his life goals and his search for truth in the struggle for ultimate meaning. These are studied as expressed verbally, orally and graphically through the ages. In addition to training for an occupation, each student is exposed to the broader aspect of training for life.

Many departments in this area have added a senior capstone course offered during interterm and have put several courses on a pass/fail basis. The religion department has added an interterm course in biblical literature for all sophomores. Dr. Samuel Karriappa, who received his doctorate from an Indian university, was a distinguished visiting professor in the department of philosophy.

The music department has made a major change by packaging a number of small courses into a more meaningful block pattern to be taught by a team of teachers. This innovation is new to the field of music education and contains many exciting possibilities. The art department has also rearranged courses and now proudly offers a Bachelor of Science degree in art.

Musical dexterity requires many hours of practice.

World history offered at interterm

The Area of Social Science is oriented to an understanding of man and his relationships with others from both a personal and a social point-of-view. Students of this discipline study man's past endeavors and his present associations in an attempt to understand his total environment.

Many courses in this area have become four hour courses. During the newly initiated interterm, the history department offered a world history course to all freshmen.

Coach oversees a vital aspect of football—proper training.

Nolten clutches a Van Yperen pass en route to a TU touchdown.

High hopes marked the beginning of the Trojan football calendar with the addition of many talented underclassmen, including all-state New Jersey quarterback Jack Van Yperen. The outlook was hopeful as TU tied the much larger Ferris State and rolled easily over the next three opponents. A spirited Earlham team thrilled their Homecoming throng and stunned the Trojans with a 21-14 margin. From this game on, things grew progressively worse. Opposing offenses penetrated TU's line and smothered Van Yperen's passing, forcing the home eleven to stay on the ground more than they desired. The failure of one field goal proved to be the crucial moment in a disappointing Homecoming game with Manchester. The services of Senior fullback Bob Harms were valued as he continued with his fighting drives and a few completed passes. Next year's team will see many changes as eleven seniors graduate.

Coach Davenport discusses strategy with several players.

Success requires total involvement

Tackle Bob Hayes: "I have always wondered how an athlete could associate himself with the person of Jesus Christ and come onto a football field and play real 'guts' ball. Well, Jesus Christ died on the cross for me, saving me from every rotten thing I've ever done. This shows a lot more than 'guts'. It shows grace and love in the highest form. Believe me, I will be playing for Him on and off the field now and for the rest of my life."

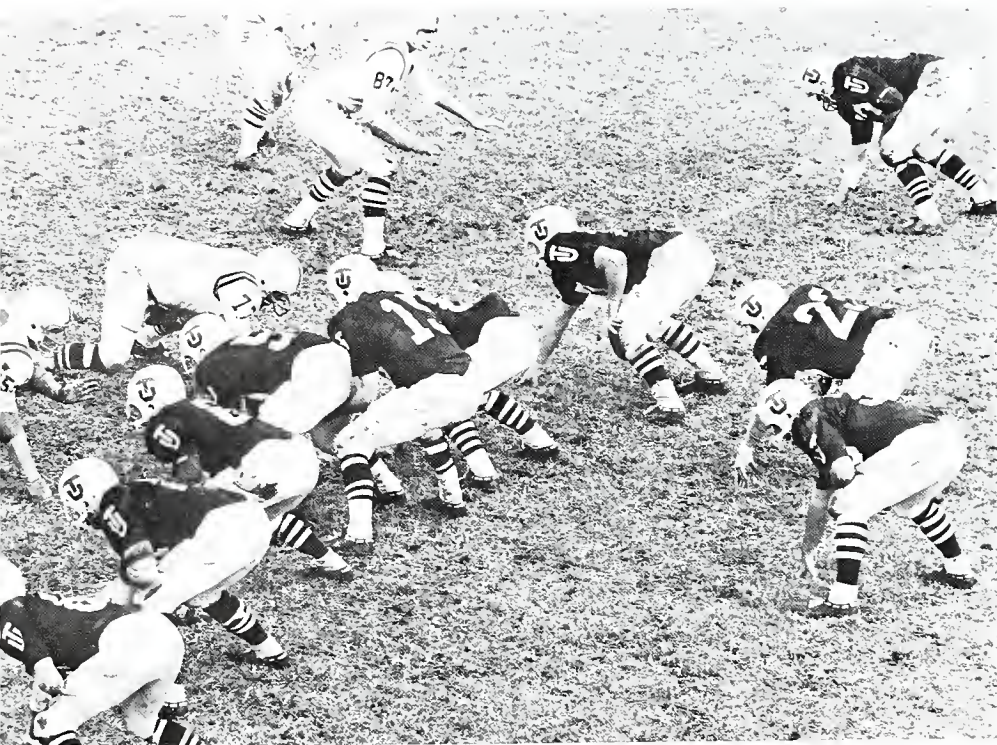

Kickoff brings supporters to their feet.

"It's too soon to quit!"

Words of experience vitalize bench strategy.

The Trojan offense is ready to explode into action.

A quick-cutting Stevens leaves a wake of fallen foes.

Strategic blocks spell extra moments for a VanYperen hand-off.

Trojan's goal higher than winning

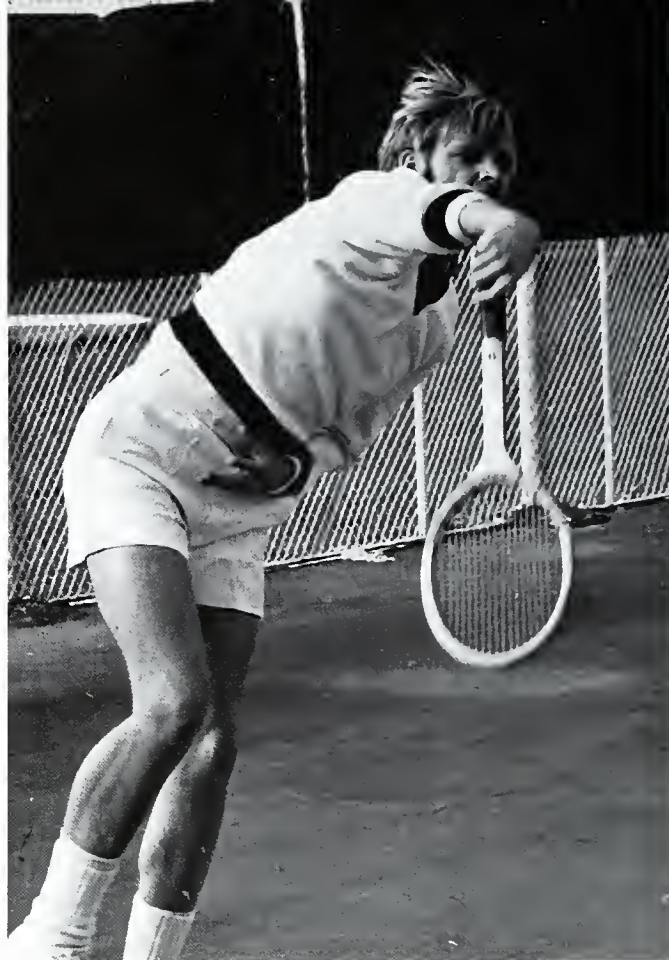

Guard Chuck Gifford: Since this is my senior year at Taylor I would like to express what Jesus Christ means to me. First of all, He is my Savior, the person that has bridged the gap between a perfect God and my sinful self. This has allowed me to have a personal relationship with the Almighty God as well as a definite purpose in life. Whether it is on the football field or pursuing my studies, I want to live a life that God would have me to live; and He has given me the best example in the world—Jesus Himself.

The Trojan's most avid supporters observe with intense interest.

Engrossed Homecoming spectators brave fall temperatures to cheer netmen to the HCC crown.

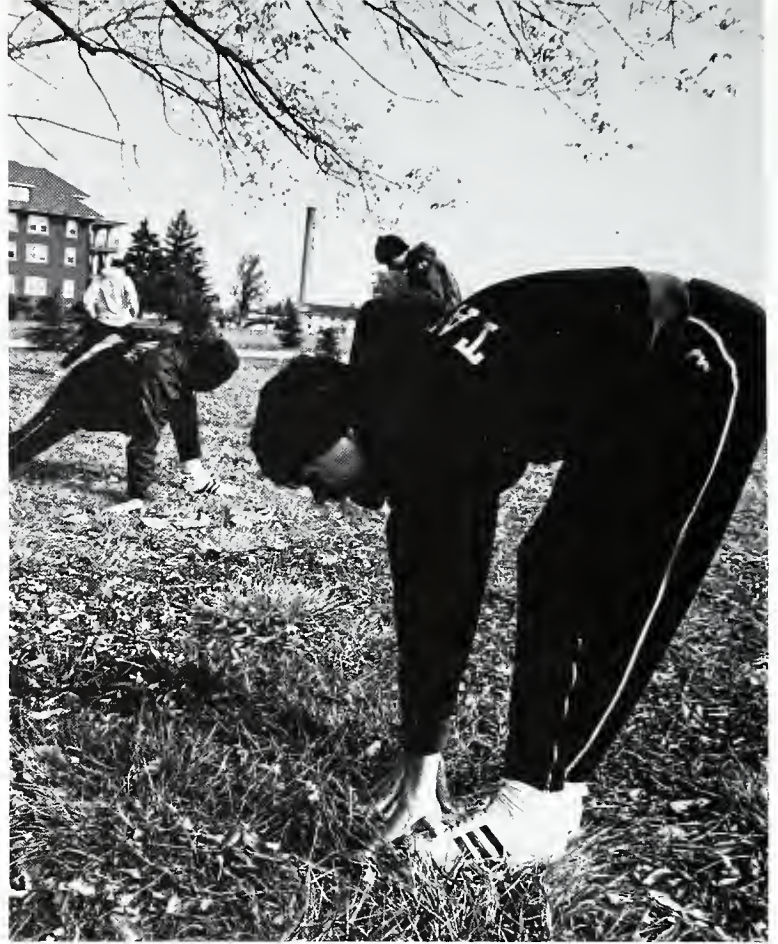

Woody Grubb gives that backhand a determined swing.

Winning the conference crown is becoming a tradition for the Taylor tennis team, for this year is their fourth consecutive championship. Captain Paul Rork, after leading the team on to victory for four years, leaves the team with a challenging record of only three defeats. Senior Woody Grubb will also be missed next year; however, Rickner and Dean will continue in the winning Trojan tradition. Freshman Tim Mann, who saw a lot of action this season, will likewise be a decided asset to the team next year. With a 7-1 record in all competition and undefeated in conference play, Coach Bob Blume has a team of which Taylor can be justly proud.

The 1968 Trojan harriers had a difficult record to beat after the successes of the '67 year. New competition was added to the schedule in the form of the Wheaton and Notre Dame Invitationals, including such formidable foes North Central, Eastern Michigan, Western Michigan, University of Michigan and Notre Dame.

The season was highlighted with the winning of the HCC crown for the third consecutive year as the team set an HCC record for scoring the lowest number of points. An attempt to attain both the Big State and Little State titles at Indianapolis again eluded the Trojans; however, the harriers gained the Little State and the District 21 NAIA titles for the second consecutive year. Throughout the season, the ultimate goal of the team was to be number 1 at the NAIA finals in Oklahoma; they did attain the distinction of being in the top ten.

Phil Captain ran his last intercollegiate race at the NAIA finals. He was three-time winner of the Little State meet and has twice won All-American. The assistance of this outstanding runner will be greatly missed.

Pre-race warm-ups are vital for a runner's best performance.

Femininity enters athletics

Adding the feminine touch to intercollegiate athletics at Taylor are the Trojaness. Squeezing their practices into an already tightly scheduled gymnasium, the girls practiced with enthusiasm, desire, and noise. Although handicapped by a lack of height, the Trojaness showed considerable skill in ball-handling and team effort. Displaying a true Christian sportsmanlike attitude, the team won the coveted sportsmanship trophy at the Purdue Playday. Though not successful in compiling a winning record, the girls found their experiences valuable in personal development.

1968-69 VARSITY BASKETBALL—Row one: S. Oldham, G. Rickner, J. Messner, G. Cone, Coach Don Odle. Row two: C. Taylor, M. Skinner, B. Matson, D. Rohrer, R. Schnepf, G. Drill.

Inspired teamwork produces results

Co-captain Dick Rohrer: In Philippians 4:13 it states "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." At the beginning of the year, we were picked to come in last in the conference and perhaps win half of our ball games. We felt that if we played together as a team and gave the best that we could, we had very little to lose. With the fine support which we received from the fans, cheerleaders and the faculty, we were very much encouraged. However, we got our assurance in the verse above and the verse found in Isaiah 41:10: "Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness." Therefore, we must give all the credit to the loyal support of the people and the Divine Grace of our Master.

Trojans defy predictions

At the beginning of the 1968-69 Hoosier College Conference season, Taylor was a decided underdog. However, the team pulled several upsets during the season. The only loss in the early part of the season came in a "barnburner" against I.C. Before heading to the sunny climes of the deep South, the Trojans wrapped up the Huntington tourney title and the Marshall Holiday Classic with a last second win over Kalamazoo College.

The last half of the season saw some very close games with TU winning a few and losing a few. The Earlham and Wheaton games were lost by only five points in the last few minutes, while the Anderson and Manchester games were won by one point and three points. The Trojans ended the season with a 7-5 HCC record.

The Trojans will feel keenly the loss of five seniors: Chuck Taylor, Garth Cone, Dick Rohrer, Steve Oldham, and Gary Drill. Taylor was the team's leading scorer with 23.1 points, good enough for a third place ranking in the HCC. Drill was second in the HCC with a .584 percentage in field goals. The prospects for next year are enhanced by the talented rebounding of Roger Schnepf, and the speed and agility of Gary Rickner, and the sharp-shooting talents of Merrill Skinner.

Rickner catches a quick pass in a Trojan offensive attack.

Freshmen swell reserve ranks

Hard, fast playing combined with sharp shooting characterized the 68-69 playing of the Taylor J.V. team. Competition was stiff with such competitors as Indiana Central, Huntington and Earlham. Led by the strong rebounding of Dave Reeves and Cal Robertson, the accurate shooting of Jim Messner, and the strong backing of Rick Ormes, John Gunderson and Dan Gordon, the B-team made a strong showing. Doug Dean and Tim Yoder led the bench in completing a well-balanced ball club.

Christmas vacation found five of the B-team members 6,000 miles north in British Columbia ministering in Indian villages. At each village the group of eight played a game with the local team and presented a half-time witness in music and testimonies. The trip proved to be a great spiritual blessing for the fellows as well as the villages visited. The varsity team can look to a bright future with the help of these athletes.

Kempf ties up his man in the HCC championship semifinals.

Wrestling under the tutelage of a new coach during the 1968-69 season, the Trojan matmen posted a 6-2 record. Though winning a majority of their matches, the team was plagued with injuries throughout the season and went into many of their contests lacking one or more key men. A highlight of the season was the decisive victory over Indiana Central, a perennial powerhouse.

The climax of the season came with the HCC Championship meet held at Anderson. The Trojans entered six men in the finals with Kerry Cole grabbing a first and five others placing second. These wins gave the Trojans a second place standing in the HCC.

Phil Arnold, Steve Kempf, John Chainey, Steve Jeffrey and Kerry Cole had impressive season records, and all but Jeffrey will be back next year. The services of Tom Linder, Dave Diamond, and Rich Muller will be greatly missed next year. The spirit, drive and potential of this youth-filled team will give Taylor fans much to look forward to from the wrestlers in 1969-70.

Led by fine pitching and strong hitting, the Trojans compiled an outstanding conference record of 10-2 during a successful 1968 season. Due to the capitalization upon Trojan errors by the opponents, the team sustained an over-all record of 24-11. The team ended the season by capturing their second consecutive HCC crown, and, as in the previous year, went on to win the District 21 NAIA championship over Huntington. In Area VI competition, however, Taylor was defeated by Defiance and Western Michigan.

The fine pitching of Ladd and Swaney, along with dependable relief from Linkenback, kept hits and earned runs at a minimum. The powerful hitting of Mohler, O'Brien, Busse, Dillon, Atkinson and Johnson sparked high batting averages, RBI's and, consequently, winning scores. Rood, Messner, and Roach also helped in the batting department.

Fine defensive efforts, led by catcher Ken O'Brien, had a great deal to do with the winning record of the team. The team was also greatly assisted by O'Brien, Swaney and Dillon, who were named to the All-conference team, and Swaney and Mohler, who received All-American honorable mention.

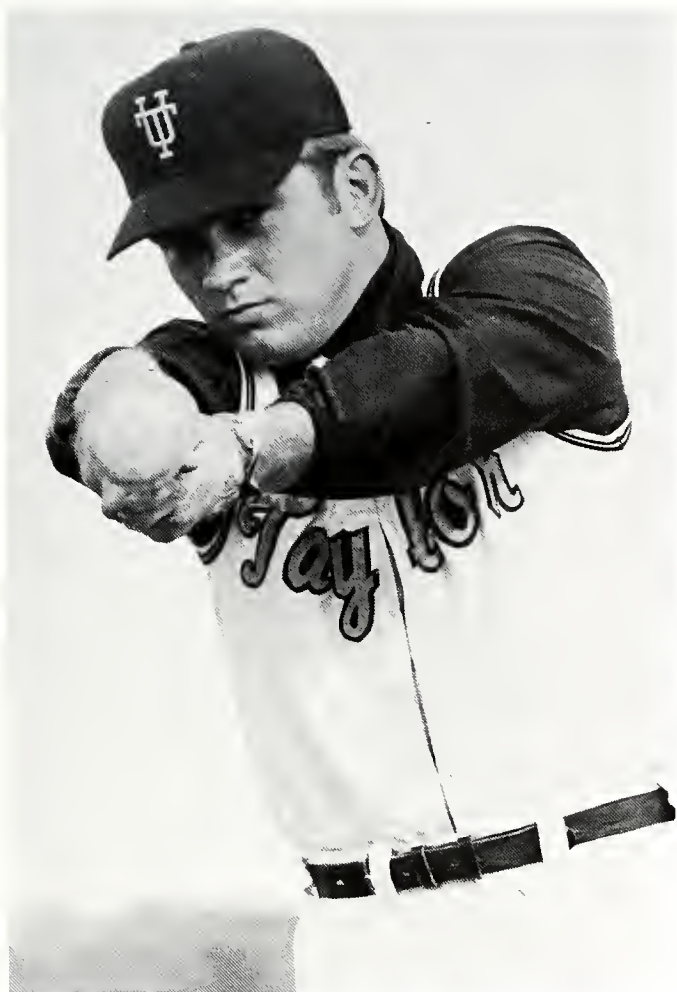

All-American Ken O'Brien readies for another pitch.

New surface initiated by new records

Toppling records typified the Taylor University track season. The first home appearance in two years on the new all-weather asphalt surface evolved into a spectacular win over the much larger Ball State University and Butler University track teams. Previous to the home meet, the team had been relatively unsuccessful in their contests with three southern schools. However, the experience in the south seemed to provide that extra surge at the starting line for the season. The harriers failed to permit defeat to overtake them as they soundly defeated every team on their schedule in home appearances. One of the highlights of the season was the successful defense of their Little State Championship title with a winning margin of 37½ points. In the Big State Taylor managed a fifth place behind such powers as Purdue, Indiana University, Notre Dame and Indiana State. The climax of the season came with a decisive Hoosier College Conference title.

An exhausted Phil Captain stops the watch at a record 4:12.9.

Greensmen travel south

A highlight of the 1968 golf season was the annual trip south to Florida and Georgia where the Trojans' competition included some of the larger universities. However, the local crew did not fare too well, winning one of six. In regular season play, the linksmen fell to an unimpressive sixth place in the HCC.

Intramurals provide outlets

An elusive Tom Essenburg gains valuable yardage.

What does the TU male do when he flunks an American Lit test, his best girl gives him the shaft, or his school bill becomes due? He gives vent to his frustrations against his opponent during intramurals. The IM program, capably headed by Coach Gary Jones, plays a vital role in the daily schedules of many of the men on Taylor's campus and provides a supplementary athletic program for those who do not qualify for the varsity sports. The sports activities consist of football, tennis, cross country, bowling, basketball, pocket billiards, handball, badminton, volleyball, golf, track and softball. Creativity is also an integral part of intramurals, and is manifested in the uniforms of some of the players and in names such as the "Potbellies," and the "Chocolate Fudge."

Thus far in the season, cross country, tennis, and football have been completed. Swallow Robin captured the top places in the first two while The Association (2nd Wengatz East) seized the prestigious football championship.

President provides leadership

In fulfilling the various duties of his office, Dr. Milo A. Rediger, President of Taylor University, directs and coordinates the efforts of the administration and of the faculty to unify and to strengthen the entire Taylor design. Ever sensitive to the needs and problems of the student body, Dr. Rediger maintains vital communication lines through contact with individuals, as well as with student organizations. Dr. Rediger extends the influence of Taylor University through his membership in several professional organizations, such as the National Education Association, the National Society for the Study of Education, the Association for Higher Education, and the North Central Association Committee on Liberal Arts Education. His involvement in Bethel Boys' Home, Marion YMCA, and Boy Scouts marks Dr. Rediger as a community leader as well.

Besides constant review and discussion of the university program, Dr. Rediger spends a great deal of time entertaining campus guests and making off-campus contacts. Dr. Rediger's aim is to provide the kind of leadership which will guide Taylor in the development and improvement of all areas of university life.

Communication good with deans

Dr. Dorsey Brause, Associate Dean

Dr. Gordon Zimmerman, Dean of the University and Administrative Vice President

Administrative Vice-President and Dean of the University, Dr. Gordon G. Zimmerman, is responsible for the entire academic program and shares in the administrative responsibility of the university. Close communication with the faculty is maintained, for the leadership responsibility of the Dean includes chairmanship of several and membership on all faculty committees. Equally good communication lines exist between this office and the student body. In the words of one student, "Dr. Zimmerman is always interested and willing to listen to the student's point of view."

Dr. Dorsey Brause, Associate Dean, as the Director of Federal Relations, writes the proposals for funds from the federal government. Recent federal aid programs include the Exemplary Visual Materials Production Center and a $18,826.50 grant for equipment and materials. Dr. Brause is also director of the new and highly successful summer school program.

Registration processes computerized

Miss Naomi Moore, recorder; Miss Debbie Pitser and Mrs. Virginia Stanley, secretaries.

Mr. E. Stanley Banker, Registrar and Associate Professor, supervises all policies and procedures related to student registration, academic recording, and interpretation of statistical enrollment data. Interpretation of academic requirements to both faculty and students also falls within the range of the Registrar's duties; moreover, Mr. Banker prepares lists and forms for internal and external agencies such as Selective Service and State Departments of Education. The Registrar's office currently is engaged in computerizing the registration system and in preparing a booklet in which the student may keep a personal account of his academic progress.

The Controller's Office, under the direction of Mr. William Davis, is concerned chiefly with financial planning, accounting and reporting. Mr. Charles R. Newman guides the Office of Service Operations in purchasing, providing telephone and secretarial services and supervising responsibilities for buildings and grounds, food service, bookstore and mailing and duplicating.

The Office of the Controller is immediately occupied with the automation of accounting and the reporting and classification of all hourly and salaried staff employees. The development of a staff fringe benefits booklet is also underway.

Mr. William Habegger aids in the coordination of campus planning. A member of the Buildings and Grounds staff, Mr. Habegger presently is involved in landscaping projects and in the paving of roads and walkways.

The Office of Student Affairs is involved in counseling students, advising student government, and planning the construction of facilities related to student services. As the director of this office and coordinator of the activities of student union, health center, and financial aid, Mr. Charles Griffin is responsible for massive amounts of "administrivia." Mr. Griffin, former Associate Director of Student Affairs, was named department head February 1, 1969.

Miss Anna Braden supervises residence hall personnel, as well as guides the positive aspects of cultural, social, and spiritual activities of student life in the residence halls. Miss Braden acts as advisor to the student judicial board and as chairman of the motor vehicle committee.

Mr. David Klopfenstein, Director of Student Union and Advisor for Curricular Activities, has as his philosophy "to do those things that will create an environment where the campus family can live socially within the Christian motive."

Funds sought for building program

Mrs. Marsha Rutledge and Mrs. Fern Shawver, secretaries

The Department of Development is staffed by Mr. Samuel Delcamp, Mr. Ernest Valutis, Mr. Wilbur Cleveland and Mr. Jay A. Hornick. Mr. Delcamp, former Director of Student Affairs, became Director of Development February 1, 1969. The main task of this department is raising funds to finance new building projects. Currently, funds are being sought for the second stage of a three-phase program. By 1979 the University hopes to complete construction of the library, chapel-auditorium and student union.

Ever concerned with public relations, the department is also involved in work which has been aptly termed "friend raising." Through personal contacts with the staff and much informational literature, such as the Taylor University Magazine and the Profile, old friends keep pace with contemporary occurrences, and new friends are introduced to the total Taylor program.

Mr. Ernest Valutis, Assistant in Development

Students get aid

The primary concern of Mr. Bob H. Stewart is to provide financial assistance to students who, without such aid, would be unable to attend Taylor University. Specifically, the Office of Financial Aid administers scholarships, loans, and grants for students, coordinates student employment on and off campus, and directs non-teacher employment. The system is now being computerized.

Mrs. Faith Fattore, Secretary

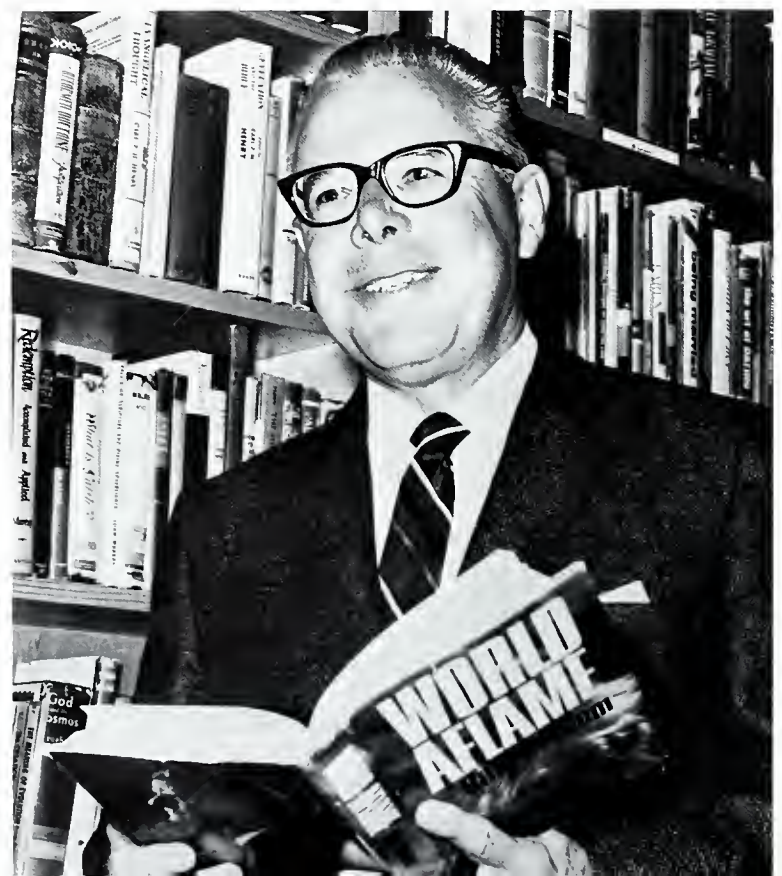

Pastor Peter Pascoe, in his role as University Pastor, coordinates and shares in the administration of spiritual activities of Taylor University on campus and in surrounding communities. Peter Pascoe is chairman of the Faculty-Student Life Committee and the Taylor World Outreach Steering Committee. Along with other ministerial duties, the Pastor also conducts the Sunday evening worship service.

Mr. Ronald Keller, Director of Admissions

Mr. Russell Clark, Miss Michele White, Admissions Counselors

Mr. Ronald Keller directs the Office of Admissions. His duties include communicating information about Taylor and reviewing admission applications. Present projects of this office include revision of application forms, preparation of new brochures, and an effort to increase the enrollment of Negro and foreign students. The Admission Student Staff Assistant program is an innovation in this office which involves eligible students. Mr. Keller is assisted in his duties by Miss Michele White and Mr. Russell Clark who conduct campus tours, represent Taylor University at high school college nights, and visit churches during vacation periods and the summer months to speak to youth groups and pastors.

Bernie E. Tucker, Associate Director of Development for Alumni Affairs

Tucker seeks funds for new chapel

Mr. Bernie E. Tucker endeavors to perform the duties of his office effectively so that Taylor University's educational programs may gain significant alumni interest and support. Presently, he is involved in reorganizing more than fifty Taylor Clubs throughout the nation and in assisting the area boards of directors in coordinating their programs. Mr. Tucker's current specific task is to involve the alumni in raising funds for the construction of the chapel-auditorium. A policy of coordinating and integrating of the offices of Alumni Affairs and Development also is now underway.

Student Government has new look

Patterned after the structure of the federal government, the Student Government Organization consists of the president and his executive council, the student senate, and the student court. Student government plays a prime role in shaping policies relevant to the entire Taylor design. Vitalizing innovations in academic, social, and cultural programs characterizes the work of this organization.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL—Row one: J. Fritzsche, D. Taylor, C. Turner, G. Mooney, P. Captain. Row two: R. Poland, A. Roth, S. Honett, T. Story, J. Hanson, L. Lightfoot, D. Thompson, S. Delcamp, advisor.

PRESIDENT AND VICE PRESIDENT—S. Honett, v. pres., R. Poland, pres.

STUDENT COURT—Row one: B. Graffis, B. Heath, S. Vance. Row two: J. Hall, J. Romine, P. Captain.

STUDENT SENATE—Row one: B. McKay, P. Seward, N. Schaub, J. Porter. Row two: M. Linder, S. Hughes. Row three: M. Karls, J. Hanson, D. Carmin, K. Stout, S. Honett, pres., R. Maddox, L. Lightfoot.

Each residence hall is operated under the leadership of a head resident advisor, who works closely with his resident assistants. Each R. A. is in charge of either programming, managing the hall office or coordinating hall government.

Hall counselors provide an important "bridge" between the hall residents and the rest of the university. Their job is primarily to know each wing or floor resident well enough to deal with or communicate his needs. The hall courts, which are made up of representatives of each class, handle the judicial matters in each hall.

Student groups plan activities

The Interclass Council is composed of representatives from each of the four classes. One particular responsibility of the council is the arrangement of class day activities. Another group of students who plan campus activities for the benefit of all students is the Student Union Board. This year the SUB provided an Asian Lecture Series, film series including "A Man For All Seasons," several "pops" concerts, a recreation program including tournaments, ski trips and a shopping spree in Chicago. SUB is also responsible for the annual Christmas Banquet and the Spring Banquet.

STUDENT UNION BOARD—Row one: D. Klopfenstein, advisor, D. Kay, M. Habkirk, J. Fritzsche, T. Heffentrager. Row two: B.

Salsbery, T. Peterson, B. Cummins, pres., D. Morgan, v. pres.

Publications show journalistic efforts

Each year a staff of volunteer students prepares the booklet Who's New, a directory of students and faculty. Alpha Phi Gamma, journalism honorary, invites to membership those students who have worked on the yearbook or the newspaper for at least two semesters. Literary Club members criticize each other's creative writing and sponsor the Parnassus magazine.

LITERARY CLUB—Row one: A. Kovalska, S. Solomon. Row two: D. Hoagland, R. Whitehead.

ALPHA PHI GAMMA—Row one: C. Griffith, C. Spina, K. Davis, B. Phillips, J. Alexander, A. Kovalska, C. Hockett, J. Moss, C. Fridstrom. Row two: C. Nussbaum, C. Lenger, C. Folkers, G. Phillis, J. Randolph, J. Neuroth, S. Forte, P. Cauble, M. Zimmerman, M. Walker, sponsor. Row three: K. Soper, S. Hawkins, T. Deck, T. Story, J. Rausch, J. Fritzsche, D. Kay, R. Turner, B. Witmer, J. Brenneman, M. Betz.

WHO'S NEW STAFF—Row one: J. Kegg, J. Landis. Row two: S. Basar, M. Linder, S. Heywood.

Echo staff informs students

What is a "madhouse"? It is the Echo office on Wednesday night or Thursday afternoon. On these days the weekly publication of Taylor's news is compiled and prepared for the printer. Nearly fifty people work together interviewing newsmakers, fitting copy, organizing pages, taking pictures, and writing articles and editorials to complete one issue. Editors this year were Joann Neuroth, first semester, and Mike Betz, second semester.

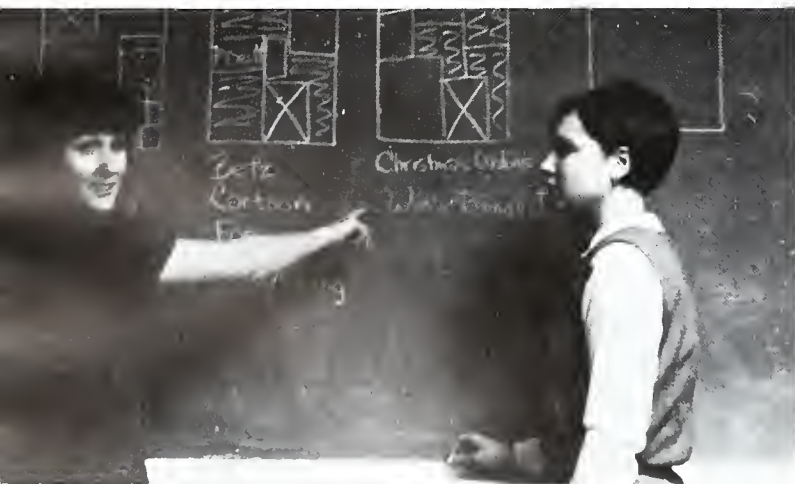

Joann Neuroth, editor-in-chief first semester, helps Mike Betz, editor-in-chief second semester, get things organized.

Balancing a pile of Echoes, Ken Soper, business manager, grins haphazardly.

Conferring over the latest news are Cindi Hockett, associate editor, and Greg Watson, columnist.

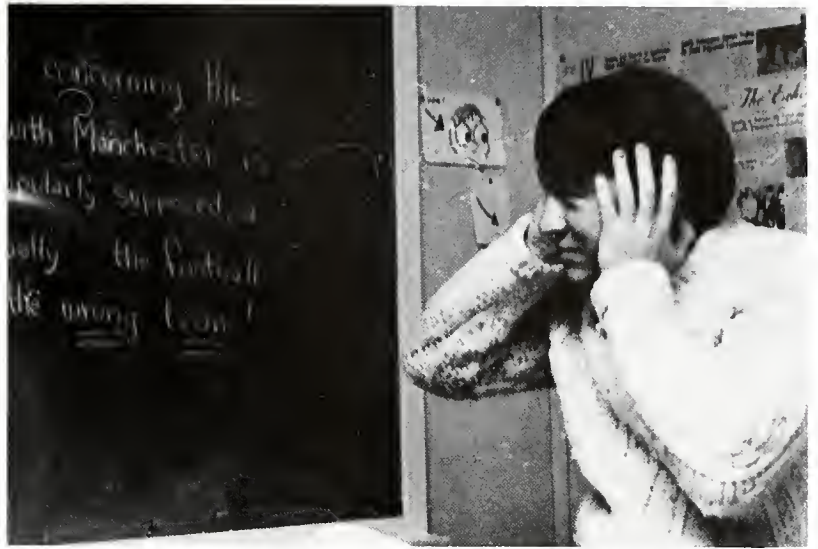

News coordinators Mary Linder and Cheri Fridstrom organize news assignments.

Barb Atkinson, make-up editor, plans an Echo format.

Peering out of the Echo office are Steve Stone, Doug Gregory, and Carole Spina—the Editorial Board.

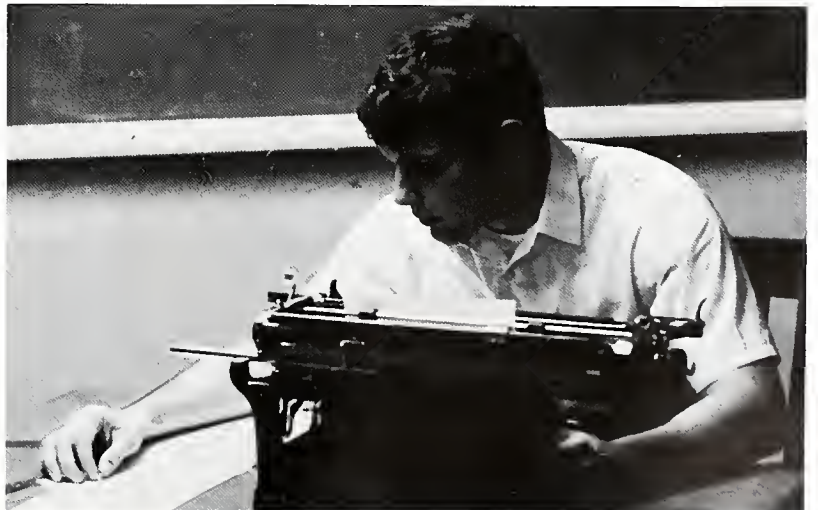

"Oh, no," cries sports editor Terry Deck, "now what?"

Assembling deadline material are Mary Linder, Arlene Kovalska, Mary Lou Pletcher, and Joan Alexander.

Mary Lou Pletcher fits her headlines to Steve Corey's cartoons.

News editor Kim Waterfall makes important last checks before typing his article.

Carol Lenger, editorial assistant: Jessie Randolph, assistant editor.

Merna Zimmerman, Connie Folkers, co-editors.

Ilium staff preserves memories

One of the hardest working groups on Taylor's campus is the Ilium staff. If you see a small, green building with lights burning after midnight, it's probably the Ilium office, especially the night before a deadline. The job of the staff is to take pictures, write headlines and copy, and present a yearbook of memories for Taylor University. The editors flew to Associated Collegiate Press in New York, and, along with other staff members, attended the Indiana Collegiate Press Association held at Hanover.

Peg Bailey, Barb Myers, layout; Suzanne Forte, Gayle Phillis, Bev Rupp, copy.

Bob Witmer, Sports Editor. Not pictured, Tom Malcolm, assistant.

Janet Moss, Janice Spaulding, Corinne Griffith, Carole Nussbaum, activities and organizations.

Brenda Duffie, Gail Bruland, Kay Davis, Vicki Curry, production and advertising.

Look Teacher of the Year, Mr. David Graf, gives students helpful hints.

Future teachers gain experience

The Student Education Association is composed of those students who are secondary or elementary education majors and are planning to enter the teaching profession. Belonging to S.E.A. gives the prospective teacher ample opportunity to associate with students from other institutions around the state in regional and state meetings. Members receive the N.E.A. journal which keeps them abreast of new developments and current issues in the field of education. An outstanding meeting this year featured a lecture by Dr. George Haines, chairman of the department of education, who reported on his study-tour concerning education in East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, and Russia. The organization was honored to host the National Teacher of the Year, Mr. David E. Graf, during his two-day visit to the campus.

Business club hosts executives

During the year, the Business Club hosted several men who are outstanding in the field of business administration. Through their regular meetings, members supplement their classroom learning of economics, accounting, and management policies.

In a related department, social studies, students who are sociology and psychology majors and minors have organized themselves into a club which is appropriately called Soc-Psy-Ety (pronounced just as the word society is). Members work with patients in the Veterans Hospital of Marion, and have had guest speakers from the Welfare Society and psychiatrists in the Muncie-Marion area. At the same time, the scientists in Science Club and the pre-med students in Alpha Pi Iota hear guest lectures, view films, and stage panel discussions regarding topics of interest.

Language buffs study cultures

Students who are enrolled in French and Spanish courses are learning to appreciate the cultures of France and Spain as well as the language itself. Both Dr. Jantzen and Mrs. Karrasch (French Club sponsors) have themselves visited in France and can contribute their observations to the club members. One particularly interesting activity of the French Club this year was a trip to Rene's, a French restaurant in Indianapolis. Not to be outdone, the Spanish Club has added a most distinguished member this year—Jaime Cabezas, a student from Costa Rica.

Symposiums meet for discussion

English Symposium, composed mainly of English majors and minors, meets each month to discuss relevant novels, short stories, or poems. Symposium Dialecticum, to which twenty students are invited each year, searches out the meaning in contemporary works such as Walden II and The Status Seeker.

Art and music clubs deepen appreciation

Members of the debate classes as well as other students comprise the Debate Club. The club meets Monday evening for practice or exhibition debates. Four to seven intercollegiate tournaments on the national debate topic are scheduled each semester.

Any student may attend the meetings of the Trojan Players but must earn points to become a member. They perform during meetings as well as for the public and also have a Reader's Theater.

Art majors and minors make up the newly formed Taylor Art Guild. The Art Guild innovated the art display in the Student Center where all students can sell their work. They are also interested in bringing more art to campus for students' enjoyment.

Music Club is open to all music majors and minors. One special meeting was about jazz in the church today, and H.M.S. Pinafore was performed by members. The club, along with the Drama Club, is planning a fine arts trip to Chicago.

Adding color to Taylor's home football games were the members of the marching band and the talented majorette corps, led by Lorri Berends and Barb Löwden. In addition, the concert band conducted a five-day tour of performances during the spring. It was a great honor for the group to be invited to perform at the Indiana State Music Educators' Association meeting. Taylor's Symphony Orchestra provided accompaniment for The Messiah and the musical production of HMS Pinafore. Mr. Kuiper directed the orchestra.

Music groups enhance campus life

Emphasizing precision as well as tone quality, the Taylor Chorale participated in such campus activities as chapel, Youth Conference, and the science building dedication. A special honor this year was an invitation to sing for the Indiana State Music Educators' Association meeting. A tour during Easter vacation highlighted the activities this year. Professor C. K. Sims is director.

Taking advantage of a GOP year, the Young Republicans expanded their membership and activated their program greatly. Events of the year included the chartering of the club by Mayor Lugar of Indianapolis, campaigning with Ed Whitcomb and Bill Ruckelshaus, and playing host to Jill Ruckelshaus.

InterVarsity Missionary Fellowship meets each week for the purpose of stimulating interest in missions and evangelism. The club sponsors the annual missionary conference and gives financial aid to TWO and Teen Haven. Members attended a state-wide Inter- varsity conference.

Members of the Personal Evangelism Club hold services at Children's Homes and Old Folks' Homes. Services include a sermon and songs. Afterwards, in an informal time, in their discussions with individuals, students tell about Christ and what He can mean to them.

Methodist Student Movement is open to all students interested in interdenominational fellowship. The club planned a musical program for residents of the Warren Memorial Home and an all-day program for the young people of the La Fountain Methodist Church.

The Kerygma Club, composed of religion majors and minors, discusses materials and methods of missions, christian education, and the ministry. The president of Gospel Films, Inc., was one of the speakers. A social was also planned each month.

Attempting to be "where the action is" the 1969 Youth Conference cabinet used "Freedom Now" as a theme for the annual spring event. Under the leadership of Bob Wolgemuth and Connie Witte, the cabinet worked diligently all year to make the Conference a successful and meaningful experience to the 1,000 high school conferees. The contemporary theme song, written by Bill Salsbery and JoAnn Kinghorn, was accompanied by an instrumental group. Speakers for the weekend were Don Engram and Norm Cook.

Active throughout the year were area YFC clubs directed by Taylor students. This method of community service and personal witnessing now involves more than fifty Taylor students. Additional students participated in gospel teams, communicating their Christian witness through music and testimonies.

1968 "Create in Me" Youth Conference acclaimed successful.

Gamma Delta Beta sponsors banquet

The goals of the Gamma Delta Beta Society are expressed by the Greek letters which are their symbols: gamma is for grace, delta is for devotion, and beta is for beauty. To achieve these goals the society provides programs with such topics as fashion, chinaware and crystal, and marriage. In addition, the society sponsors a witnessing seminar series in cooperation with the Inter-Varsity organization at Ball State University. The most outstanding social event of the year, the Sweetheart Banquet, is planned by the Gamma Deltas. Off-campus projects are undertaken by each girl so that the society is both a social and service sorority. All Taylor girls are eligible to become members if they participate successfully in the annual pledgee program of initiating new members.

The Women's Recreation Association organizes a program of intramural sports for all Taylor women who desire to participate. During the fall, WRA sponsored a campout and in the spring a bike-hike and picnic. Other women who take an active part in the sports program are involved in the hockey team. This year the squad was successful in several intercollegiate contests. Male athletes, on the other hand, have banded together to form the T-Club, a service organization. Both men and women who are physical education majors and minors are members of PEMM Club. A highlight of the current year was a karate demonstration which attracted great interest. The Taylathon, a highly anticipated event held in the spring, is arranged by PEMM Club members.

It's the things we leave out of a Volkswagen that make it work so well.

We leave out the radiator. So the engine will never boil over or freeze and leave you stranded somewhere. (Don't worry. It's air-cooled.)

We leave out the water hoses and water pump, too. Still fewer parts to break down and leave you stranded.

We leave out the drive shaft. You know: the long bulky thing that transfers power from the engine up front to the drive wheels in back. (Always losing a little power along the way.)

Instead, we put the engine in back, right over the drive wheels. Where it'll put its power right to work moving the car.

As soon as we can think of something else to leave out, we'll leave it out. Just as soon as we can decide on the best place not to put it.

Dear Senior of 1969,

We congratulate you on your academic achievement and take great pleasure in welcoming you to a devoted and unique family, the Taylor University Alumni Association.

We are confident that you will use your education and your spiritual maturity for the good of society and the Church. We are also confident that you will become an active participant in the Taylor Alumni Program.

May God grant you a rich and purposeful life as you pursue further education or enter your chosen field of service.
